

The Sinclair Broadcasting Group's decision requiring their stations to air "Stolen Honor" a few days before the election, is grossly unfair and has nothing to do with free speech and everything to do with corporations misusing their power for false propaganda to influence an election.

This group uses public airwaves free, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. When media is controlled by huge corporate interests, the rights of the people suffer. Instead of something produced at a distant news center, undoubtedly eastward bound to India, it's imperative that we see local people from our own communities and genuine news, not propaganda.

Sinclair's arrogance shows why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. It is incredible how Chairman Powell arrogantly flaunts his ignorance. He appears wrapped in a golden cocoon, unable to see the real world.

Thank you.
